

KEY TAKEAWAYS AND FURTHER READING

TLDR: Neurodivergent brains are packed with incredible traits. Given the right environment, they can have a great impact on how we all work together; they allow us to be more productive, more curious and more creative as a team - especially if you're neurotypical.

Our belief?

Neurodiverse thinking can make us all better at our jobs, and should therefore be a part of every team in media.

Our dare to change ambition?

We want to become the leading industry for embracing neurodiverse thinking in Australia

What can you do?

1. Read about neurodivergence
2. Ask colleagues about how they work best (and consider what changes you can make)
3. Try some of our brain training exercises and
4. If you're keen to be part of our ambition, sign up to help shape this change.

This can all be found here.
